Deliver actionable data to drive healthier outcomes

Gaps in care result when members don't get the health care they need: for example, a patient may not be taking a prescribed medication or may not be getting the follow-up care to monitor their progress. As a result, it can have negative impacts on member health, quality measures and costs.

In many cases, providers and members lack the information they need to understand and take action on these problems.

With Hx Gaps in Care, you can put actionable data in the hands of members and providers to drive positive impacts on population health, member awareness and outcomes, while maximizing reimbursements and incentive payments.

46% of discharged patients don't receive recommended care, significantly increasing the risk for health complications and readmissions.

Benefits include:
